

a sound fit

When it comes to the human ear, one size does not fit all. For close to 50 years, Microsonic has remained dedicated to offering superior hearing healthcare, hearing protection and earphone products.

Our commitment starts with the most advanced impression materials available, enabling a natural fit. This is the foundation for Microsonic's trademark comfort, performance and durability.

Microsonic's extensive product portfolio features impression tools, earmold tubing and accessories, acoustic modification accessories, testing supplies, and support for earcare and earmold maintenance.

Customers trust that Microsonic understands the complete science behind product size, shape and design that contribute to a positive overall experience for users.

The Microsonic advantage extends beyond product quality to an unparalleled dedication to service. Getting in touch is easy, and deliveries can be made as early as the next business day. Reach us any time, any way, seven days a week:
